THOUGHT FOR THE MONTH

'The lyf so short, the crafte so long to lerne'

(Geoffrey Chaucer, The Parliament of Fowls)

We're into a season where Nature's creativity is at its most obvious. I guess one of the reasons we appreciate it so much is because creativity is such a fundamental part of being a human being, too. That act of making something, crafting something that wasn't there before, is intensely spiritual. Most creative crafts require periods of slow, painstaking, repetitive activity that takes us 'out of ourselves' and into a mental state that most of us recognise as meditative. You can go on learning your chosen craft for the rest of your life. Many traditional crafts, from quilt making to cathedral building, require, or naturally lend themselves, to collective effort. Chaucer was referring to love in the quote above - your jumper, or your pie, or your poem, isn't going to turn out right without that. And the sheer enjoyment of transforming what is often the left-over bits, the recycled bits, the bits someone else didn't want, into a thing of beauty and usefulness!

There's a tradition in quilt making, maybe in other crafts too, of always including a deliberate mistake, because only God can make perfection. I'm not sure what perfection means in this context - after all not all those lambs are healthy, not all those daffodils are entirely symmetrical. But when I can point to my slightly wonky carving and say 'I did that!' aren't I sharing just a bit in God's joy in Creation?

Floe Shakespeare, Voluntary Friend in Residence, Airton Meeting House

P.S. and by the way, if you need a deadline to get that project finished - it's not long now till Malham show!

Burial of Ashes of Rosemary Ann Bundy

'WE'LL KEEP A WELCOME IN THE DALE'

I hope many of you will have read my piece in the last magazine about the proposed visit of the Maternity Stream of City of Sanctuary to the Dale for the weekend of 17th -19th July.

As I explained then, we want to extend the link which we established at Christmas by inviting them back to join us for this weekend. They will arrive on Friday and stay through to Sunday. We will organise some activities during Saturday and have a multicultural social on the Saturday evening.

This is a really positive chance for us to share the wonderful Dale we enjoy every day with a group of refugees and their children from Leeds. If you read last month's article by Rose McCarthy you will have seen how much previous visits have meant to them.

As I write this, sources of funding are still being explored to facilitate minibus transport and other expenses. Some of our visitors will stay at the Friends Meeting House in Airton, but as I said in last month's magazine what would be really appreciated is if we could offer some of our visitors hospitality (as in bed and breakfast) in our own homes for the nights of Friday and Saturday. I really do need some more offers of such help, so please, if you think you might be able to do so then do contact me. Other offers of help to entertain and support our visitors during their stay would also be really appreciated.

You'll all know that great Welsh song 'We'll keep a welcome in the hillsides, a welcome in the vales'. Let's make this a real opportunity to keep a warm Yorkshire welcome in the Dale.

AIRTON WI

Our April meeting was held in the Quaker Barn complex to give us plenty of room for the almost full quota of members attending this most popular talk. Our guests were Alice Halstead, Alice's mother and Holly, Alice's talented Labrador/Curly Coated Retriever cross dog. Alice's talk about her extreme diabetic state and the life saving attention that Holly gives her, had us all riveted with intense concentration. In her early teens Alice had spent almost three years continuously in hospital, as she needed constant monitoring for her blood sugar levels, which rocket dangerously to extremes both up and down. Now that Medical Detection Dogs have trained Holly to work with her, Alice can be at home and work for both that charity and Rays of Sunshine, a charity which grants wishes for seriously ill children. With Holly constantly by her side to check her blood sugar it means that vital treatment can be given instantly and Alice's life is saved hundreds of times. Mrs Halstead is the best support that a mother can be as well as the regular chauffeur. Holly took a well earned rest during the talk, having alerted Alice already that evening on the drive to Airton. We were all moved, and in admiration of the incredible senses dogs have which are being used more and more for our benefit.

Our next meeting will be at the home of James Mansley and Christine Ditman – Brookside House on Settle Road, on 13th May, when Christine will speak to us about 'Buskaid', and how music helps to improve people's lives.

Dates of Committee Meetings for 2015

Monday July 13th

Monday September 21st

The first meeting in 2016 will be on Monday January 18th .

MALHAM WI

Hold onto your hats! I missed the deadline for last month's edition so we have a lot of catching up to do.....

For our March meeting we had a change of speaker as our planned speaker, Bill Mitchell MBE, the well-known editor of the Dalesman, was unfortunately unable to attend. However, we were very pleased to hear from Janet Parker who gave a fascinating insight into the work of the Women's Freemason Society. Our friends from Airton WI joined us and we had a very enjoyable evening.

Also in March we made progress with our plans to celebrate locally the WI's Centenary in September. We will be holding a joint celebration with Airton WI on Sunday September 13th in Malham..... More information to follow!

The Federation's Spring Council Meeting was held at Tennant's in Leyburn. The day began with four intrepid travellers deciding to take the scenic route over Coverdale; considering it was chucking it down there wasn't much scenery to be had. After travelling up hill and down dale - literally - we arrived at Tennants in good time. Janice Langley our National Chair gave the morning's keynote speech followed by the Board of Trustees' annual report. Julie Clarke was on top form, and kept referring to the WI as the NFU which had everyone falling about. Perhaps she had lambing time on her mind? In the afternoon we were entertained by Sally Kettle, a Guinness Book of Records holder who together with her mum successfully took part in the Cross Atlantic Rowing Boat Race. Sally gave a truly inspirational and at times comic presentation describing how her mum's preparation for the gruelling journey involved a quick row around the harbour! The day was rounded off with a sample of Julie's winning entry for the National Centenary Cake and a champagne toast. An excellent day was had by all.

Our April visiting speaker was Martin Lunn MBE, a presenter from Stargazing Live. Martin gave an enthusiastic and knowledgeable presentation on the impact of women in the advancement of astronomy from ancient Egyptian times to the present day. After his presentation Martin stayed for a light supper and we continued the discussion.

Next month's meeting we look forward to hearing from Roger Rand's presentation on 'The Road to Mandalay'.

FAREWELL TO NIGEL

One fine Wednesday night, about 40 Airton and Scothrop residents met at the Town End Farm Shop to bid farewell to our postman of 25 years. Nigel is renowned for running everywhere and has been a great friend to everyone in the community. Nigel was accompanied by his wife on this occasion.

In response to an email request, a number of people commented. Here are just a few:

- "Just thought I'd like to share the following. Nigel was more than a postman to us. When I was seeking work, I didn't have to advertise as Nigel put the word out and I would find small pieces of paper with a telephone number and name of a person in the Dale who was looking for a cleaner. I had more than enough work from Nigel's "advertising" . He was still trying to give me work when I retired ! He is an absolute gem."
- "Always a smile, rain or shine."
- "He unfailingly left parcels in a safe place - we never had to go and collect them from the sorting office."
- "When he drove the post bus (before it was downsized to a post van!) he'd get out and help frail or elderly passengers to their front doors - a kindness over and above the call of duty that was very much appreciated."
- "We will all miss Nigel dearly, he provides a truly first class service to the Dale. He will be a very hard act to follow! I think he should write a guide book for his replacement... Where to get a cup of tea, which houses to just pop into etc. thank you Nigel for your excellent service, we'll miss you too x"

We wish him well in his (early) retirement.

CHRISTIAN AID WEEK 10TH – 16TH MAY

‘Afraid, alone, in pain’

Loko’s choice in life is simple: ‘If I can’t collect firewood, my children will die.’

Four times a week, in a remote corner of Ethiopia, Loko makes a back-breaking eight-hour trip to gather wood. It’s a task she dreads, but she steels herself to do it because if she doesn’t her children will starve. She prays to God as she walks. “I ask him to change my life and lead us out of this,” she says.

Just £5 could give Loko a loan to start her own business buying and selling tea and coffee, freeing her from her desperate task and allowing her to spend more time caring for her family.

We can be the answer to Loko’s prayer.

This Christian Aid Week, 100,000 volunteers from 20,000 of churches will get out into the community answering Jesus’s call to help people in need. Through house-to-house collecting, we are part of the biggest act of Christian witness in Britain and Ireland.

Thank you for joining us – each envelope is filled with the power to change the lives of women like Loko.

Last year Malhamdale raised £1,106.34 during Christian Aid Week. The red envelope in this magazine will be collected between 10th and 16th May by someone in your community who is turning their concerns into action. If your envelope is not collected please leave at Kirkby Malham Church. Please fill in the Gift Aid declaration on the back as this will increase your giving by over 25%.

Once again “THANKYOU!”

COMMUNITY ENERGY IN GARGRAVE & MALHAMDALE

Wind Power – a role to play in the right location.

For the third in this series of renewable technologies, we're looking at wind power. The UK is one of the windiest countries in Europe and here, on top of the Pennines, wind is our most prolific source of renewable energy, but also our most controversial!

Large scale onshore wind farms make a cost-effective contribution to the UK's demand for clean electricity. New technologies such as smart grids and energy storage will, in future, overcome intermittent performance. However the value of their contribution has to be weighed against high visual impact and loss of landscape quality, while expensive undersea infrastructure pushes up the price of electricity generated by offshore wind farms.

Locally our proposed community-owned renewable energy scheme aims to replace as much as possible of our share of national demand from the grid with home grown clean energy. Income from the government's Feed-in Tariffs (FIT's) can be used to support local amenities such as village halls, sports facilities, churches, etc. Small scale wind power has a valuable role to play if developed sensitively in consultation with residents, local authorities and the network operator.

The National Grid distributes electricity "downstream" from large central power stations. Hence there is a limit to the amount of energy we can feed "upstream" into the local grid as it stands. What we generate needs to be matched to local demand.

A survey of local energy usage will set an overall target for installed generating capacity. Sensible decisions need to be made as to how best to deploy small scale renewable energy technologies to get the most out of existing solar, wind and other renewable energy resources. As part of this process consultation with residents and local authority planners will minimise environmental and visual impact.

Siting of wind turbines

To be effective, small wind turbines need a site where they can benefit from an average wind speed of around 5m/sec or more, or 11 – 12 mph. When choosing a site it is essential to assess wind speed by erecting an anemometry mast and monitoring wind speed for at least 6 months, preferably a year.

The wind turbine shown here with a capacity of 12kw and a tower height of 15m on a good site with an average wind speed of 5 m/sec will give an output equivalent to the average annual electricity demand of 6 - 7 family homes or, to put it technically, an annual output of 22,500 kWhrs.

While the installed cost per kW of small wind turbines is 3 to 4 times that of solar panels their energy capture is twice as high. Wind provides more energy in winter and at night so will do more to reduce the energy usage of your home or business. In combination they complement each other.

In upper Malhamdale suitable wind turbine sites are unlikely to be found below the 300m (1,000ft) contour while grid connection may be a problem on Malham Moor. Further down the dale and around Gargrave suitable sites at a lower altitude can be found. To be effective the site must be clear of obstructions such as trees or buildings. An arrangement most likely to harmonise with the surroundings would be an appropriately sized turbine situated in the proximity of the settlement it serves. Nearness to a settlement is also necessary for connection to the grid.

Making the transition to a low carbon economy will reduce our reliance on imported fossil fuels and can reduce fuel poverty. It can also make our communities more resilient and sustainable. To make that happen we need your support and suggestions for possible sites and projects. If you know of a good solar or wind turbine site, or are interested in supporting our group please contact me, Sandy Tod, on 01729 830690 or at jamestod@btinternet.com.

Thank you. Next month we will look at hydro-electric power.

RECIPES PLEASE!

As mentioned in the last issue, we are hoping to put together a Malhamdale Recipe Book to raise funds for St. Michael's. A big 'Thank you' to everybody who has already passed some recipes on to me—but we could still do with plenty more. Initially we suggested just baking (cakes, cookies, pies and puddings) but some of you have sent such delicious-sounding savoury recipes that we've decided that just about anything goes!

It would be very helpful if you could send any recipes to me before the end of May, please, so the book will be ready in plenty of time to sell at Malham Show. Thank you!
